SUES ON ACCOUNT.—The Glendale Lumber Co. has sued P. B. Smith and M. L. Gibbons for $197.85, the unpaid balance alleged to be due on a bill for lumber and other building supplies. HUNTING BIG GAME.—This is the open season for senatorships and among those who were out for sport yesterday in these parts were Eugene S. Ives of Tucson and Harry Pickett of Tombstone. The former was looking for game on his own account while Mr. Pickett was merely beating the brush to scare up something for the entertainment of his father, Col. Pickett.

POSTPONED.—The meeting of the members of the Country Club, to have taken place at the rooms of the board of trade last evening, was postponed until next Tuesday evening at the same hour and place by those few but earnest individuals who were there, who were H. I. Latham, Howard S. Reed, Royal W. Lescher and two or three others. The few minutes they were together were spent in looking over a proposed plan presented by Mr. Lescher, speculating on the numerous suggested sites on which to put it and otherwise dimly outlining to themselves the things that may be. They hope for a larger attendance and better weather on the next night, for the time is getting short for action if the greatest pleasure is to be secured the coming season.

AUTOMOBILE.—The latest thing in horseless carriages is an "automobile." One was seen going toward a Washington street garage yesterday afternoon. LING A-FIELD.—Reese M. INSURANCE ALL COLLECTED.—W. M. Fickas yesterday gave to the territorial board of control two $5,000 checks, one each from the Niagara Fire Insurance Co. and the other from the Agricultural Fire Insurance company, both of which companies he represents locally. GOING NORTH.—G. W. P. Hunt, who has been sowing the seed of democratic discord necessary in this valley to turn voters from Thomas Weedin, candidate for governor, into the bright effluvia of his own glory, left on last night's train for the north, re-stocked with more seed. He will plant as much as he can of it among the dry-farmers of Yavapai, then go further north and carpet the right of way from Kingman to the New Mexican line.

MISS THOMPSON HOME.—Miss Thompson, of the survivor's general's office is at her desk again after a vacation of three weeks in Denver and vicinity. She says she has to confess that Denver is larger than Phoenix though of course not so nice in proportion to its size. Her visit was late enough in the season to give her a real taste of cool weather, the thermometer hovering around 27 and ice and snow being near neighbors on the surrounding peaks.

SETTLED WITH CONTRACTOR.—The trustees of the Phoenix school district held a meeting yesterday in which they made what may be called a final settlement with the John Roberts company, contractors for the erection of the Adams school building. Mr. Roberts and his son Earl, who had charge of the construction work, were both here and the settlement was amicable and satisfactory. The last 25 per cent payment on the contract price was made, with the exception of a small amount held back contingent on the satisfactory working out of such features of the contract as the guarantee of keeping the roof in good repair for one year, and some similar details.

POSTPONED.—The meeting of the members of the Country Club, to have taken place at the rooms of the board of trade last evening, was postponed until next Tuesday evening at the same hour and place by those few but earnest individuals who were there, who were H. ## PARKERITES PRAY FOR GOVERNMENTAL RELIEF

And are Encouraged by Scripture to Depend on the Mighty.

The people of Parker, or rather the investors in lots there, both residents and non-residents, do seem to be in a hard way with their investment. They are somewhat in the position of the fellow in the story of the bear hunt who could not hold on for action if he did not dare to let go. But, all humor aside for the situation is certainly not humorous to at least the resident investors at Parker, who have cast in their all there—they are praying for relief to the secretary of the interior, and their prayer, at least, shall be heard if it is never answered, though there is an impression in well-informed circles in Phoenix that the prayer of the righteous availeth naught. "The prayer of the righteous opening of the Indian reservation surrounding Parker, and the consequent boom which the investors in the townsites had every reason to expect, in agricultural and other productions if nothing else, has been delayed beyond the expected if not the promised time.

The prayer of the petitioners is as follows, and is pretty plain:
Honorable W. L. Fisher,
Secretary Dept. of the Interior,
Washington, D. C.

Honorable Sir:
The people of Parker, Arizona, again appeal to your department to postpone date of final payment for lots purchased in May 1910; and beg to say that the same conditions now apply as last year, which warranted their government in postponing payment at that time.

We believe the conditions are even worse now and that many people would have to forfeit their claims to the government because they absolutely cannot borrow money at this time. It would be a great hardship on many pioneer settlers who have come here and invested their all and lived the best that they could in anticipation of the early opening of these lands to settlement, as there is no other source of income in sight.

They reply on the final action of your department to open these lands at an early date and that the government will not demand final payment on their lots until conditions assume some reliable status.

An early favorable reply will greatly relieve the people and any information regarding the opening of these lands will be greatly appreciated.

Very respectfully,
Parker Board of Trade,
G. C. DUNN, Pres.
R. C. SAUFLEY, Sec'y.

PUSHING WORK ON NEW CEMENT PLANT

WILL BE READY FOR OPERATION IN DECEMBER.

Already There is a Notable Demand For Its Product.

The Arizona Portland Cement Co. has called a stockholders' meeting to be held at the plant midway between Phoenix and Tempe on October 7. This is something of a novelty but one purpose of it is to get the stockholders out for an inspection of what is being done in the equipment of their property. Another rather novel feature is that the stockholders meetings are all to be "open." That means not only open to stockholders but to anyone else interested, for the company proposes to conduct its business in such a way that there will be no secrets the public may not share in.

The work of equipping the plant is now going forward rapidly after much dragging and delay in the earlier stages of development and it is hoped that it will be ready for operation early in December, but certainly not later than January 1. The foundations are now practically all in and the machinery of the government plant bought at Roosevelt has been on the ground for a long time. The heavy parts of it are now being set in place. An additional purchase of $17,000 worth of new machinery has been made, it is all constructed and much of it is on the road. It will be placed as soon as possible after arrival.

The company has a capital stock of $1,000,000 of which over 529,000 shares have been sold. The management says it has now been sufficiently financed to insure the completion and operation of the plant. Its capacity will be about 400 barrels of cement per day. About thirty men are now at work in construction and when the plant is running about forty men will be employed altogether, part of them at the plant and part of them at the clay and lime quarries near Winkelman.

What makes the company so confident of success is the two important factors, market and cheap manufacture. In respect of the former the use of cement in this valley is increasing with wonderful rapidity. It is now utilized to some extent in all manner of construction work to say nothing of the hundreds of miles of ditches that all need cementing some good day, and the Phoenix building boom is demanding a large tonnage. But that is not all. In all parts of Arizona cement and concrete work is becoming the order of the day and with cheap production and price, the limit of the demand cannot be seen. The company already, before a pound has been made has been asked to quote figures on three large orders from Arizona points outside of this valley. One is for 30,000, another for 50,000 barrels and the third for 80,000 barrels.

The question was asked as to the cheapness of manufacture as compared to the cost of manufacture at Roosevelt, by which plant the government is known to have saved hundreds of thousands of dollars over the prices quoted for cement brought from outside points. The reply was that the company expects to manufacture its product a great deal cheaper than the government did. In the first place its plant is on the railroad where fuel oil can be delivered at a minimum price while the government had to pay for the long wagon road haul from Mesa City. The Arizona company has to bring its lime and clay from Winkelman which is a considerable haul for heavy tonnage, but it has secured freight rates that with easy quarrying and loading, it is said enables the company to lay these commodities down at the plant for less money than the government transported its raw materials from the clay banks near Roosevelt, some two or three miles by the little electric tram road.

But the company does not expect to confine its operations solely to the making of cement. It proposes to furnish also the sand and gravel required in general concrete work and is well equipped to do so through the fact that there are immense sandbars and gravel pits in the river bed within a stone's throw of the plant. By the installing of a big rock crusher they will be in a position to supply all the materials needed in cement and concrete work and in road building, which will doubtless be given a great deal of attention in these parts in the next few years.
